- Continue to promote a deep understanding of different faiths and diversity.

 - Continue to develop a culture of challenging prejudice, stereotyping and injustice. Through PSHE, worship, books and novels. Use the school recording system – CPOMS.
 - Children will show tolerance for and understanding of a diverse range of people, cultures, religions and races.
- Make further adaptations in order to ensure the seamless inclusion of those with a range of special needs and/or disabilities.
 - Including consideration for improving access to outdoor education, visits and visitors.
 - Accessible website (translated documents and printed on colour paper if needed).
- Continue to challenge gender stereotypes.
 - 'Body image', both boys and girls in relation to media (including social media) pressure, through teaching in PSHE.
 - Non-traditional gender roles and interests (e.g. boys and football, girls and dolls), by the ongoing/continual promotion of equality of access to all resources and activities without fear of prejudice or victimisation, in all classes.
